Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 14-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Genoud et al. (4747813).

Genoud et al. disclose a system (11, fig. 5) for selectively replacing a first set of folding boards (13, fig. 5) with a second set of folding boards (14, fig. 5), the system comprising a first frame assembly (15, fig. 5) secured to the first set of folding boards (13), the frame assembly rotatable about an axis for placing the first set of folding blades into a folding position, a second frame assembly (15, fig. 5) secured to a second set of folding boards (14, fig. 5), the second frame assembly rotatable about an axis such that the second set of folding boards is also capable of being placed into the folding position and the first frame assembly and the second frame assembly are simultaneously rotatable about the axis, which meets all the claimed limitations.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 14-25 are alternatively rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murphy et al. (3472504) in view of Kuban (5421072).

Murphy et al. disclose a set of folding boards (77'-77"', fig. 1). However, Murphy et al. do not disclose a system for replacing one set with a second set.

However, Kuban teaches an identical machining assemblies (14a-14h, fig. 1) attached to a frame assembly (carousel plate 12) being rotatable about an axis to replace the first set of machining assembly with a second set of machining assembly such that one operator can unload and load a work piece at one machining assembly while the other machining assembly is machining the work piece therein (see abstract). Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at time of invention to provide a set of identical folding boards attached to a frame assembly being rotatable about an axis as taught by Kuban such that one operator can unload and load folding board or perform maintenance work while the other set of folding board is folding the web.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
